SIR HUON AFTER EASTERN HONORS

DREAD DISEASE ATTACKS RACERS

Oiseau and Others Suffering With the Baffling Ailment Which Killed Sysonby—Something About Whimsi-

Favorites.

By J. S. A. Macdonald.
NEW YORK, June 30.—We are to have an infusion of intersectional rivalry in the routine of the midsummer racing which promises to add considerable zest to the sport of the turf in this neck of the woods—in fact, all over the United States, where the thoroughbred "race horse" and his doing are matters of concern. The approaching titanic going to be a keen interest. It is the East against the West again, and instead of McChesney being pitted against Hermis-ta, two new champions have arisen—Sir Huon, owned by George H. Long, of Louisville, Ky., and Whimsical, the wonderful filly now running hereabouts in the colors of T. G. Gaylor.

They are conceded to be the prime factors in the three-year-old problem of 1906. Outside of Accountant and Or-mondale, they are in the running for the honors, Sir Huon and Whimsical stand out from the five hundred odd three-year-olds now in active racing condition. It so happens that Sir Huon is distinctly a Western product and as great a hero of the Middle West racing ground as McChesney in his day, or Rama Horn last year, only that the experts declare him to be a better class animal than either of the aforementioned pair and a sure repeater of the successes of Ben Brush and Ormondale—Western invaders who proved to the New York critics some seven years ago that "form" about Memphis, Tenn., Louisville, Ky., and on the Chicago, Ill., turf, is to be respected even in this state territory. So good a judge of racing form as T. C.
McDowell, of Louisville, Ky., says he is not quite sure about Sir Huon being as "classy" as he is, but he believes in his three-year-old days, but still he believes Mr. Long's prize will do as well, if not better, than Whimsical, Timber, Accountant, or Ormondale during these tall end days of the Sheepshead Bay meeting and at Brighton Beach and Saratoga.

Another respected Western authority who saw Sir Huon win all his races in the West this spring, says: "Sir Huon won't be at himself until he reaches Saratoga. A little rest there will give him some fresh edge, and then you may take it from me, the three-year-old championship will go to this Western flyer as soon as he has the opportunity of meeting Whimsical, Ormondale, Timber and Accountant." In the meanwhile, New York followers of racing are sitting up and taking notice of Sir Huon. He arrived quietly on the afternoon of the 30th, and on the 31st he was in the way into a stall at Sheepshead Bay without creating a stir. Two mornings later Sir Huon galloped a brisk three-quarters.
"Jack" Joyner, developer of Hamburg Belle, ran over to "Tom" Welch, trainer of Ormondale, shouting: "Say, Tom, here is a chance for a clean up. Now something good work a little while ago. Keep it mum. No one knows what it is, and I'll find out." Later on Joyner executed a Sherlock Holmes detour and pulled up feeling sheepish when Carroll Reid, handler of The Picket, said: "Why that is Sir Huon, winner of the Kentucky Derby." Since then Sir Huon has been much in the public eye, the consensus of opinion being that the son of dead Falsetto needs a rest, after which he is very likely to take down the flag in the three-year-old division.

Whimsical is doing nicely, and along with the New York public is awaiting a conclusive clash with the Kentucky Lochinvar. Whimsical beat Accountant in the Jockey Club Weight-for-Age Race at Belmont Park quite handsly and then after trailing second to Ormondale in the Broadway Stakes at Gravesend, due solely to the poor ride put up by little Not-ter, she came right back in the Standard Stakes with "Ducky" Williams on her back by the way, she is the most competent negro horseman since the days of Isaac Murphy, the "Colored Archer," and decisively reversed the result of the Broadway Stakes meeting by galloping away from Ormondale.

After that she went into a slow and careful pointing for the Advance Stakes.
Her trainer declares the filly capable of picking up 115 pounds and running a mile in 1:38 or better over the course.

CLUSTER SPRINGS IS PROUD OF CRACK BASE-BALL TEAM

G. E. Clarke, manager; (1) Professor Thompson, Washington, coach; (2) Keeton, Lynchburg, first base; (3) Traynam, Newport News, third base; (4) Professor Kuykendall, West Virginia, second base; (5) King, Jacksonville, shortstop; (6) Hankins, Halifax county, catcher; (7) Morgan, Richmond, pitcher; (8) Craddock, Lynchburg, right field; (9) Payne, Richmond, center field; (10) Tuck, Halifax county, substitute; (11) Agnew, Nottoway county, left field.

This picture shows the fastest team which has ever played at Cluster Springs Academy. The development of the team was largely due to the excellent work of Coach W. T. Thompson, Jr., ex-Davidson, assisted by Prof. N. W. Kuykendall, ex-Hampden-Sidney College.

The season opened April 2d on the South Boston diamond, when they defeated the Danville Military Institute by a score of 28 to 5.

The next school game, April 13th, was with the strong Trinity Park High School nine, of Durham, N. C., on the latter's grounds, when Cluster lost by a score of 15 to 3.

In the return game with Trinity Park, April 16th, on the home grounds, in an 11-inning game, Cluster won by a score of 6 to 3.

On April 24th the team started on its week trip through Southside Virginia, winning from Hoge Military Academy in an 11-inning game, by a score of 6 to 3.

The second game of the trip, April 26th, Cluster lost to the heavy Farmville Atletics, score, 6 to 1.

On April 28th they played Hampden-Sidney College on the latter's grounds, losing by a score of 8 to 1. This was the final game of the season.

The final game of the season was played during the commencement exercises, Monday, June 4th, when Cluster won from the Houston Athletics by a score of 10 to 7. With a larger part of this team returning next year, the indications are bright for a championship team next season.

The annual regatta at West Point will be held on August 4th. The boat clubs to participate will be the Virginia Boat Club, of Richmond, and the Aerials and the Arundels, of Baltimore.

There will be four races, with probably several other events, in which each club will participate. There will be eight-oared and four-oared shell races, fouroared gig and single skull races.

Much Enthusiasm.
At the Virginia Boat Club enthusiasm in the coming regatta is already high.
In the eight-oared race last year the club defeated the Aerials, but this year not only will they have that strong competition to face, but they will have to go against the Arundels, which is well known for the long list of crack oarsmen which it has to draw upon.

The following are substitutes: 1, Taylor; by Coach M. A. Russell, of the Virginia Club, for the eight-oared shell, the list, however, not necessarily being final, there being many good substitutes: 1, Todd; 2, Foust; 3, Gilliam; 4, Thomas; 5, Gordon; 6, Haw; 7, Crenshaw; 8, Smith; Captain Shelton will be in the stern.

The following substitutes: 1, Taylor; 2, Gregory; 3, Jones; 4, Meade; 5, Gilliam; 6, Boshier; 7, Nickols; 8, Sampson. The men who will row in the four-oared gig will be: 1, Callen; 2, Williams; 3, Michael; 4, Christian. The crew of the four-oared shell will be picked from the substitutes of the eight-oared shell.

Coach Confident.
Coach Russell says that he thinks his men has an excellent chance to come off with the majority of the honors, although he realizes they must face some speedy adversaries.

Of course, the eight-oared shell race will be the big event of the day. In speaking of the present choice for this crew, Mr. Russell said that Todd was a new man, and although light, earnest in his work, and has a good chance to make his mark.

Forest rowed last year. He has splendid endurance and a strong, fast and true man; he has power, but as yet pulls awkward stroke. Thomas is not in condition, but the coach is hopeful he will get in trim by race day.

Gordon, the oldest man in the crew, has just started in work. He pulls a strong, true stroke, but is not yet a new man; he has power, but as yet pulls awkward stroke. Thomas is not in
get in trim by race day.

The Kentucky Colonel was all in yesterday, and the game that might have been his—though he was up against a hard proposition—slipped from his nerveless grasp. Still, he was half sick when he went into the box, having only half recovered from an attack of sickness, and try as he would he was unable to brace himself up to his usual form. The wonder is that he did as well as he did. In the last three innings he was replaced by Drew. Indeed, the whole battery was changed; Cowan also going in for Hinton.

The game was breezy, fast and finished from start to the winding up, when the tallies stood five for the Tobaccoists and four for the Lawmakers. It was in the fateful fifth inning that the Lawmakers saw their hope melt away for in this inning Danville made three hits, and as many runs as did Richmond, ducking the whole game. The Tobaccoists wear all to bunch their hits in the fifth and each hit counted toward adding up the winning score. The Lawmakers made four hits and all of them counted for a run; but here they stopped. The fateful fifth had presented to them an obstacle that they could not surmount, and after the sixth, when they brought in, they earned runs, it was a story of the goose-egg for the next three.

Drew entered the box in the sixth inning, and he managed to hold the To-baccoists down to two hits, both singles, in the eighth inning, and no runs. Still he could not hold them, and in the ninth he was hit for two runs, and this perfectly saved the Richmond team from losing to a tune of a heavy score. Both Cuddy and Hicks played their usual good game, as did Anthony, who played better than usual.

Tobaccoists Played Well.
